Westlake Key Club gets their hands dirty

The Westlake High School Key Club partnered with other key clubs located in the tri-county area on Saturday, Sept. 19 to participate in the Greenwell State Park Clean-up. The annual project brings together students and volunteers to help pick up trash, paint signs for the park and work on other conservation-oriented projects.

The Key Club is the oldest and largest international organization for high school students. It is sponsored by the Kiwanis International Organization. The Key Club offers students opportunities in leadership development, service-learning, personal enrichment and the possibility of college scholarships.
