Wise, Cook re-elected as Board chairman, vice chair

The Board of Education of Charles County re-elected Roberta Wise as chairman and Maura Cook as vice chairman at its Jan. 10 meeting. The Board elects a chairman and vice chairman each January. Officers serve one-year terms.

Board members unanimously re-elected Wise to the chairmanship position that she has held for the past two years. In accepting the nomination, Wise said she would continue to keep the Board focused and united as the group works through the challenges of the coming year. "We will need to continue to strive for improvements in operations and most importantly, student achievement. Additionally, redistricting, construction of St. Charles High School and preparation for the selection of our next Superintendent are all issues that will require our focused attention," Wise said.

Roberta Wise

A second-term Board member, Wise also served as vice chairman of the Board for three years after first being elected in 2006. Wise thanked the Board members for their continuing support and trust in her as chairman. She is a retired Charles County Public Schools teacher with 34 years of experience. A former Charles County Public Schools Teacher of the Year, she also received the Washington Post Agnes Meyer award for outstanding teachers in 1991. For most of her career, she served as a mathematics teacher at Henry E. Lackey High School. She was a coordinator of the Educational Partnership Team and a math resource teacher before retiring in 1999.

The Board also unanimously re-elected Cook to a second term as vice chairman. In accepting the nomination for the position, Cook said she has a strong work ethic, remains calm in the face of conflict and continues to be an advocate for high academic standards and instructional rigor for all students.

Cook is a nurse and a former award-winning Destination Imagination coach, parent-teacher association officer and parent volunteer. She is a co-founder of the Women's Exercise Research Center of the George Washington University and a past presenter at the American College of Sports Medicine's annual conference. Cook is a registered nurse local care coordinator. She works with primary care physicians, assisting with care coordination, education and health promotion.

Maura Cook

She is active with the Maryland Association of Boards of Education. Mrs. Cook has a bachelor's degree in science and nursing from St. Mary's College, Notre Dame, Indiana, and a master's degree in education and human development from George Washington University.

La Plata gains new space for athletics, instruction

Vacant Navy housing near La Plata High School has been demolished, making way for future athletic fields and parking lots for students.

In November, the Interagency Committee on School Construction (IAC) approved the acquisition of the 19-acre site by Charles County Public Schools from the Federal Government and Southern Maryland Tri-County Community Action.

The site, which is adjacent to La Plata High School, will be used for athletic fields and outdoor curriculum support areas such as a cross country trail, walking for wellness classes, Navy Reserve Officer Training Corps training, a fine arts class, a nature trail, local

Parent involvement matters

Comcast and the Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE) are sponsoring the fifth annual Comcast Parent Involvement Matters Award (PIMA) program. The annual award recognizes parents and guardians whose contributions have led to improvements in Maryland public schools.

Nominees must be a parent/legal guardian of a child in a Maryland public school, and a consistent advocate of public education. Nominees must have also demonstrated involvement in one of the five following areas within the last 24 months: communicating; volunteering; learning; decision making; and/or community collaboration.

Nominations must include three letters of recommendation, a two-page narrative essay describing the nominee's contribution to public education and completed nomination forms. Five finalists will be selected and the winner will be announced at a celebration later this spring.

Nominations are due Jan. 31 and forms are available on MSDE's Web site at <http://marylandpublicschools.org/MSDE/audiences/parents/pima.htm>. Incomplete applications will not be considered and submissions will not be accepted online or by e-mail. For more information, visit MSDE's Web site at www.marylandpublicschools.org.

Employees to be honored

The Board of Education will honor more than 30 employees for their years of service to the school system in a ceremony on Feb. 23, 5 p.m., in the Board room at the Jesse L. Starkey Administration Building.

A complete listing of those to be honored will be featured in the March 3 edition of School News. For information about the ceremony, call 301-934-7356.

Board honors student for winning patch design

The Board of Education on Jan. 10 honored La Plata High School senior Nathan Freeman, pictured right, for his winning patch design as part of the 2011 Student Space Flight Experiments Program (SSEP) patch design contest. His patch flew aboard the last flight of the Space Shuttle Atlantis on the STS-135 mission.

The school system is again participating in the program. Last month, students submitted patch designs and they were put on display in the Starkey building for voting. Two will be selected to fly on a mission to the International Space Station (ISS). The winners will be announced later this month.

Nominate an outstanding teacher for recognition

Charles County Public Schools is seeking nominations for the school system's Maryland Teacher of the Year candidate. The nominated teacher must be a classroom, resource or media teacher who spends the majority of his or her time teaching and has a minimum of five years teaching experience. The selected candidate will also be named the 2012 Charles County Teacher of the Year.

There can only be one nominee per school. Nominations are due by March 2 to the office of human resources. Application information is located on the Charles County Public Schools Web site at <http://www2.ccboe.com/TOY.cfm>. Applications should include the candidate's educational and professional development history; professional biography; examples of community involvement; a statement on the candidate's philosophy/style of teaching; three letters of support from a principal, administrator, colleague, student or former student, parent or civic leader; and statements on education issues and trends, as well as the teaching profession. For additional application information, visit the school system Web site.

Each Maryland county and Baltimore City forwards one recommendation to the Maryland State Department of Education (MSDE), which selects the Maryland Teacher of the Year.

Navy housing

community events, beautification and site clean up by student organizations, according to Superintendent James E. Richmond.

The property was owned by the federal government and contained 20 Navy townhouse units. The houses, built in 1952, were in serious disrepair, and had been vacant for many years. The property was transferred from the U.S. Department of Education as surplus federal real estate under a 1949 provision that allows to transfer educational institutions in return for the organization commitment to use the land and buildings for approved educational programs.

The Board of Education of Charles County contracted to have the houses demolished. Approximately $105,000 was used for asbestos removal and demolition of the existing housing. Site grounds maintenance will be absorbed within existing funding allocations.

Richmond said securing the property ensures space for a possible future renovation and expansion of La Plata High School.

Maryland school system ranks number one for fourth consecutive year

The Maryland public school system was ranked number one in the nation for the fourth consecutive year by Education Week, a leading education newspaper.

Education Week analyzes each public school system in the following six categories: state education policies; student performance in prekindergarten through grade 12; state accountability standards; teacher effectiveness; work on school readiness and high school reform; and preparation for college and the workplace.

The results are published in the annual "Quality Counts" tally report, and Maryland received the only overall B+ rating. The report features more than 100 indicators used to rate each state.

Maryland tied with Arkansas with an A rating for its focus on early childhood education, college readiness and workforce policies. Additionally, Maryland earned an A rating in the areas of providing early learning foundations for children, adult outcomes, standards and school accountability, and building and supporting capacity.

Most of the state-level data collected by Education Week comes from a policy survey of states conducted during the summer and fall of 2011. Additionally, the publication draws on data from the U.S. Department of Education, U.S. Census Bureau and the American Federation of Teachers.

Staff Notes

System has a new EAP provider

Charles County Public Schools (CCPS) has a new Employee Assistance Program (EAP) provider. GHE HealthCare (GHE), a national provider of employee assistance programs, has been contracted by CCPS to offer services for employees.

The EAP is a benefit offered to CCPS employees to help with personal problems that may be upsetting your life, job or family. The program provides help for personal, emotional or family problems as well as alcohol or drug-related, job stress or other mental health issues. The EAP helps decrease absenteeism due to stress and personal problems.

To use GHE, employees can call 866-443-3277. Supply your zip code, name and phone number. A GHE counselor will then schedule a mutually convenient appointment.
